Graubünden, january 2024

The current negotiations with the WHO endanger the sovereignty of Switzerland, as well as of all 194 WHO member states.

Dear Mr./Mrs.

The WHO has been negotiating in Geneva for some time now about a new, globally binding regulation of “health and climate measures”. The Swiss negotiating delegation is / was led by former Federal Councilor Alain Berset and the director of the BAG, Anne Lévi.

In the future, the WHO will issue binding measures on health and climate matters on its own. During the Corona crisis, the Swiss people already experienced that the so-called “recommendations” of the WHO were uncritically adopted. People who publicly questioned WHO recommendations were turned into dangerous enemies of the state. To date, all Swiss courts and the Swiss Parliament have consistently rejected an independent and effective review of these WHO recommendations. What’s the reason?

Will the WHO decide in the future?

In the future, the WHO, which is around 70% privately financed, should and will have even more power and its requirements should become even more binding. Under the WHO regime, in the event of a pandemic defined by the WHO, all Swiss state authorities should only have executive powers for an indefinite period of time. The WHO’s universal authority to interpret all health issues could then no longer be questioned by us Swiss. There is no mechanism for controlling the WHO or restoring our national sovereignty. Why not, and why doesn’t any parliamentarian seem to be bothered by it?

Dangerous shift in authority – away from democracy

This process results in an illegal transfer of authority from the Confederation to an unelected international body, unprecedented in Switzerland. In contrast to the Federal Council, Parliament and the courts, this body is not subject to any control or responsibility. In the future, a committee of unknown technocrats would define Switzerland's government tasks and the resulting high expenditure, as well as issue far-reaching regulations for all areas of the economy, public and private life.

Permanent shift in power

Apparently, this shift in competence will have a permanent and institutional character. Therefore, such a shift in competence can logically be viewed as a total material revision of the Federal Constitution, if not even qualified as a latent and therefore illegal repeal of the Federal Constitution. With full knowledge, the Federal Council has been trying for months to hide these far-reaching consequences for Switzerland and its entire population. Instead of including us – the sovereign – in the political discourse at an early stage, the Federal Council is trying to trivialize the situation and deceive the people.

Act now and preserve fundamental rights for our descendants

There is an urgent need for action from politicians, as the final vote of the WHO World Health Assembly on the revolutionary changes is scheduled for May 2024. We therefore urge you, with reference to your duties, to give the WHO project presented here your full and critical attention in the coming weeks. Because not acting in the interests of the Swiss people would not only be fatal, but would have serious consequences for every single parliamentarian.

Silence is considered consent, which is of course clearly defined in law and will be prosecuted and punished.

Our recommendations and the measures to be taken can be found in the supplements (ten minutes of reading time, which will certainly be crucial for your career).

Best regards
